1939 Jewish population was 1400 (40%). Grinevald-chairman of a bank, Lewin-a grain merchant, and Gross-a manufacturer lived here. The cemetery was established in the 19th century with last Orthodox or Progressive/Reform burial in 1939. The isolated suburban flat land has no sign or marker. Reached by turning directly off a public road, access is open to all. The cemetery is now 51.21 sq.m. as before WWII. No gravestones are visible. [sic: sandstone is indicated]. No structures. The cemetery was vandalized during WWII. There is no maintenance, no care. Municipality owns property used for storage. Adjacent properties are commercial or industrial. Rarely, local residents stop. At the site, used building materials (cement) are stored and sand heap probably from nearby agricultural machine park. The cemetery border is being destroyed by the dirt road.
