

KehilaLink : Created by Carola Murray-Seegert. Webpage design by KehilaLinks volunteer
Jonny Joseph [Sep 2012]

-

Vostryakovo Cemetery: Thirty graves were desecrated in the Jewish section of Moscow's Vostryakovo Cemetery in 1998. Eight tombstones were damaged beyond repair during the attack. Source: World Jewry World Jewish Congress, 501 Madison Ave., NY, NY 10022, August 1998

- Lev Krichevsky of JTA Moscow is interested in the cemetery. [June 2003]

- gravestones with names and dates [Apr 2014]

-

-

Khovanskoye Cemetery:

- wikipedia article [Apr 2014] Khovanskoye Cemetery is the largest cemetery in Europe, covering more than 1,970,000 m² (21,200,000 sq ft)[2] It is divided into three smaller parts:

- Khovanskoye Central Cemetery, which was established in 1972 and covers 877,200 m² (9,442,000 sq ft),

- Khovanskoye Northern Cemetery, founded in 1978 and covering 600,000 m² (6,500,000 sq ft), gravestone photos with names and dates . [Apr 2014]

- Khovanskoye Western Cemetery, which was established in 1992 and covers 501,200 m² (5,395,000 sq ft). gravestone photos with names and dates . [Apr 2014]

- burial listing without a cemetery specified [Apr 2014]

