- British Military Cemetery: There are some Jewish graves in the British Military Cemetery near the famous bridge over the River Khwae [Kwai]. I took a photograph of the stone of just one British Jewish soldier. Source: Arthur s. Abramson; abramson@uconnvm.uconn.edu . The cemetery contains the graves of a number of Jewish POW's who lost their lives during the construction of the infamous Death Railway during World War II. The struggle of those hapless Allied soldiers, Jews and Gentiles, became the subject of the famous American film, "Bridge over the River Kwai." source:
